WATCH THIS FACE

lola

Paris-born but now living in Manhattan, 24-year-old Lola Delon's (above left) debut single No Strings has already caused huge controversy in the US. An ode to the pleasures of one-night stands – 'I don't even know you and I don't care/Baby, let's have sex' – it's sung in the manner of a Mariah Carey ballad but with a frankness that could only ever be French in origin. 'Apparently, my song is tearing away at the fabric of moral decency,' she says in a Gallic-tinged American accent. 'But I believe if you feel something, you have to let it out.' Presumably, then, the currently single Lola practises what she preaches? 'Well, occasionally perhaps,' she laughs, 'but I'm definitely a romantic at heart.' She promises that her forthcoming Prince-inspired album, Take it Like I Give it, will contain more 'naughty' songs.
